TED R.

Black colt foaled August 23, 1900. Property of H. P. Millett, South Paris, Me. Stands 15 hands and three inches high and weighs 1100 pounds. Sire, Francisco, son of Stamboul 2307. Dam, Tyevelter, pacing trial 2:21, by Battalia 2:30; son of Glenarr 2:34. Francisco was got by Stamboul, sire of Stamboul 2:08, Elbert 2:11, Stam R. 2:11, Elsie S. 2:13, and a total of 48 in the 2:30 list. All trotters, thirteen of them, or about 50 per cent, being in the 2:30 list, while fourteen sons have 33 in the 2:30 list, and eight daughters had nine in the list to the close of 1902, among those from daughters being Wiggins (2) 2:19, the sire of sensational speed of these nine seven being in the 2:30 list.

Francisco was out of Nola (dam of Koda, 2:30) by Nutwood, sire of 178 in the standard list, whose sons 125 in number have 432 trotters with records of 2:20 or better, and 311 pacers with records in 2:25 or better. Daughters of Nutwood have produced 302 with standard records, leading all sires in this respect.

The second dam of Francisco was Belle Byron, dam of Claus Almont, 2:24, she by Clark Chief, 2:34, thus giving this colt a double cross to Almont.

Battalia which got the dam of Ted R., was a fast horse but had little training. As has been said he was a son of G. Enam 2:35, one of the fastest racing stallions of Maine in his day and a good sire. Cyril, son of Glenarr, is the sire of Cephas, 2:11, and daughters of Glenarr produced such trotters as Bismarck, 2:13, Eddie B., 2:14, etc.

Ted R. is a strongly made colt of much substance and should get the right kind of horses for the road or track. No attempt has yet been made to develop his speed.

He will make the season of 1905 at my stable on Pleasant street. Terms, $15.00 to warrant usual return privileges. Call on or address

Stallions For Service

SEASON 1905

Our Hackney Stallion BELL BOY is a beautiful dark chestnut, stands 15-3 hands, weighs about 1200 lbs. He has the best of conformation, feet and legs. He is sound, can step a good clip, is a pure gaited trotter and without doubt the highest acting stallion in the State. His only get in the State is a chestnut gelding, who won the blue ribbon in the Single Gents' driving class at the Carnival, Feb. 25. Service fee $20 to warrant.

The Clydesdale Stallion ROYAL CONNECTION is a grand specimen of a draft stallion, is a dark bay with some white on the legs, stands 16 hands high and weighs 1550 lbs., and will be 4 years old in '05. He is blocky built, with the best of feet and legs, and moves well on some. We believe there is nothing more profitable for the Maine farmer, than to breed their draft mares to such a stallion. Service fee $10 to warrant.

Parties interested in breeding draft or carriage horses for market should visit Maple Grove Farm and see the stallions offered for service. We have one imported Hackney stallion and one imported draft, Clydesdale stallion. They are the best of representatives of their breed and should prove beneficial to intending breeders.

All mares at owners risk. Colts held for fees. Parties from a distance can be accommodated for meals or over night. Mares boarded by the week or year at reasonable rates. These Stallions will stand at Maple Grove Farm, season 1905. We offer for sale choice young Ayershire stock both sexes. Call on or address

WHERE DISEASE GERMS BREED.

No Need to Fear "Germs" if the Stomach Be Healthy.

The ideal breeding place for disease germs is a weak stomach and digestive system. The food, instead of being assimilated, turns into a sour, stinky, fermenting mass, causing gases, distress after eating, bloating, nausea and flatulency. The poisonous germs that are given off from this undigested food enter the blood, and pimples, boils, and blotched skin is the result. Nervousness and sleeplessness come more often from weakened digestion than from any other one cause. Rheumatism and gout are directly caused by an acid condition of the stomach.

No ordinary food digestive can give lasting relief. It is absolutely necessary if one wishes to be well to use Mi-o-na, the only known remedy that soothes and heals the mucous membrane of the stomach and digestive tract, stimulates the solar plexus, and strengthens the nerves of the stomach. This remarkable remedy puts the whole digestive system in so healthy, clean and sweet a state that fermentation of the food cannot exist, any disease germs in the stomach will be destroyed, and all food will be so well assimilated that a rapid and healthy increase in weight will quickly result.

Mi-o-na is a guaranteed cure for all diseases of the stomach, excepting cancer, a guarantee being given by Noyes Drug Store with every package they sell, agreeing to refund the money should the remedy not give perfect satisfaction.

Moses Mosher had the misfortune to sprain his right hand a few days ago, and as his left hand has been so long useless it puts him in a hard place.

Hair Lifting Experience.

An Adventure on Panther Mountain and Inside of It.

Between the head waters of the Kennebec and Magalloway rivers is a great mountain known as Panther mountain. The timber near its top is dwarfed by its altitude being near the timber line, but down its sides it was, at the time of my story, clothed in an unbroken forest of black growth. The lumbermen had not come within twenty miles of it and it was practically unknown and unthought of by others than a few hunters and trappers. In was the place where the caribou made their last stand and when ever there is a moose in the country his tracks will be found around Deniston bog which is close under the mountain.

John Danforth, the pioneer of Parma-chee, had a line of traps running the entire length of this mountain, so when I began working for him and became his trapper I had this line among others to tend.

One day toward spring I went over this line of traps and stopped at White-cap camp which was the nearest one to the mountain. The snowshoeing was excellent and as I could spare a day as well as not I decided to do some exploring in that vicinity. There were streams of which I had never seen the source, vast swamps and valleys that I wished to cross besides some ledges and bald spots on the mountain from which I could get a view of the surrounding country.

I started early in the morning, taking a light ax and wearing a revolver, which I always carried when out in the woods. I crossed bogs and swamps on the five feet of snow that was everywhere, with the utmost ease and saw all that I cared to of the lowlands about the base. There were tracks of fur animals and an occasional deer yard, but on the whole the trip to the lowlands was a disappointment, for the growth was just alike everywhere and so bushy as to render it worthless for fall hunting.

About noon I started to climb the mountain by an easy slope and in about an hour I was standing where I could overlook the Seven Pond valley. At that time I was not familiar with this famous resort, but I had no trouble in picking out such places as Big Island Pond, Little Island pond, and others bearing similar descriptive names. In all I thought I could count more than seven ponds, but some may have been bogs.

I had soon satisfied my curiosity in this line and started to descend by the most direct route in reaching camp. It soon became quite steep and coming to what looked like a little gully down which I saw higher ground, I sat down to slide. I was more boyish then than now and I went down flying. It would have been dangerous but for the high ground that I saw directly ahead, but as I approached what I thought would be the end of my slide I saw directly ahead of me a big dark hole into which my gully ran with a greater incline. I was awestruck and clutched for branches or anything I could reach to stop myself, but the snow was more icy here and I went into the hole like a shot.

Inside it was smooth glare ice and I sailed along through the jumpy darkness expecting every moment to be dashed against a sharp ledge. Before I had time to think twice I shot out into daylight and found myself safe and unharmed on the lower side of a ledge on which the sun was shining warm and which was entirely different from the place I had just left.

The passage had badly frightened me but no sooner did I find myself safe and unharmed than I became filled with a wild passion to do it again. I had but a vague idea of the distance between the two openings but I thought it was something like 150 feet. To get back to the entrance could not be a very great job so I started around the hill to find it.

On my way back I thought of various schemes to get as much benefit out of the subterranean passage as possible, and to that end I decided to carry a torch with me. I peeled a big bunch of birch bark and cut a stick, and when I got to the entrance I fastened it all to the stick very loosely so it would make a big blaze. When all was ready I got down near the entrance, removed my snowshoes and hung them on my arm, then set the torch on fire. When it was blazing at its best I threw myself on my back and holding the torch above my head slid into the hole, feet foremost.

I went swiftly at first over the smooth ice, the torch roaring like a tornado; then I discovered that I was sidetracked, for the ice became rough and the grade steeper, and after about the time I should have emerged at the exit I slid onto a dry dusty spot and brought up violently against a big, warm, hairy animal. It started up with a savage growl and leaped away. The torch was burning furiously and I saw plainly that it was a bear, but I had no time for further investigation. To be left in total darkness in such a place with a big bear for company was about the last thing I cared to have happen.

I had no idea which way the lower opening was, and I knew I could not climb back the way I had come. I decided that all this in a very few seconds, and I decided that this bear would have to guide me if I got out. I could see that it was afraid of the fire, so with a shout I sprang toward it brandishing the torch. It retreated and I followed as close as I could. Over rocks and ice, bones and skulls I chased it, sometimes nearly scorching it with the flames. My eyebrows were singed and face blackened by the smoke, but I was determined to drive the bear out before my torch was consumed. Several times it sidestepped me and hid, and I lost some time in getting it started again, and my torch was all but gone.

Finally I slipped on some ice and fell and as I did so, I saw the remaining portion of the torch at the bear, and it disappeared. I sat up and looked around. Pieces of bark were burning in a dozen different places, some of them fifty feet away. As I sat and watched them burn out, one at a time, I began to see daylight shining on something below me. I crawled along the slippery ice to get on the right slope before approaching it and soon found the ice so smooth that I could no longer cling to it, so I let myself go and fell. I was surprised to find that I could not get him, but I had no desire to undertake to hunt it in there with only an old ramfire Colt's revolver, so I put on my snowshoes and went to camp.—Maine Woods.

Spring Medicine

There is no other season when good medicine is so much needed as in the Spring.

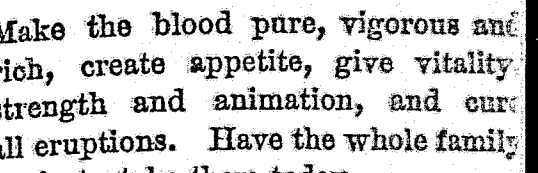

The blood is impure, weak and impoverished—a condition indicated by pimples and other eruptions on the face and body, by deficient vitality, loss of appetite, lack of strength, and want of animation.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Make the blood pure, vigorous and rich, create appetite, give vitality, strength and animation, and cure all eruptions. Have the whole family begin to take them today.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla has been used in our family for some time, and always with good results. Last spring I was all run down and got a bottle of it, and as usual received great benefit." Miss BELLA BOYCE, Stowe, Vt.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

HARRISON.
The infant child of James Thomas has been so sick that its life was at one time despaired of, but at the present writing it is so much improved that it is thought that it will recover.

Chas. W. Hill of North Bridgton, and his son-in-law, Edgar Hunter, are building quite an elaborate summer cottage in the "Perley Pasture" about a mile south of the village. O. V. Edwards and Geo. Marr are doing carpenter work.

Only a small amount of planting has yet been done, as most of the farmers do not wish to plant until the ground is warm. Most of the grain is now up, it having been sowed quite early. Wet ground troubles no one this spring thus far.

S. O. Stuart and his assistants, Charles Walker and Thomas Harney, have been very busy for several weeks doing jobs of painting at the village. The Odd Fellows' building and several of the houses show conclusively that they can do a good job.

Frank Shackley, who has for a short time been living in J. W. Foster's old house, has moved to Auburn, where he has hired out to work in a stable. His wife's mother, Mrs. Susan Kimball, has gone with them and will remain there for a few weeks.

Kate Wright, who is teaching school in Oxford, has been taking an enforced vacation on account of the prevalence of scarlet fever in the vicinity. The situation is now so much improved that the school was started again last week. This is Miss Wright's second year of teaching in Oxford.

Complaint is made that eggs are not hatching well this spring for some reason. One party that had about 120 eggs in an incubator succeeded in hatching about 20 chicks. Another who paid a fancy price for a sitting of eggs succeeded in hatching just one chicken, but will make a great effort to bring that one to maturity.

E. F. Sanborn's family of children have all been sick of late with pink eye and sore throat, but are somewhat better now. There has been a great amount of sickness in this family during the last three or four months, one or more of the children having been sick nearly all of the time, and the youngest girl has been operated on for appendicitis.

Mrs. E. D. Gray and her two children have been quite sick with sore throat, which was thought at first to have a diphtheritic tendency, but readily yielded to medical treatment. All are much better now, and the oldest boy has so far recovered as to be able to go to Denmark, where he is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Berry.

E. D. Gray of South Harrison, is now at work at Naples doing quite an extensive job as painting of Dr. Fickett's buildings. As soon as this job is completed he is to take charge of a crew of carpenters who are to build an engine house at the Bay of Naples Inn, put in an elevator shaft, and make general repairs throughout the house. An electric-lighting plant is to be put into the Inn, and the elevator is also to be run by electricity.

Benjamin W. Harmon, whose home was lately destroyed by fire, has moved into the Samuel Kneeland house, near the town farm. Mr. Harmon is the owner of the Kneeland farm, and intends to make it his future home, and will not rebuild the burned building. Mr. Harmon met with a severe loss at the time of the fire, but is amply able to start in good shape in his new home. They have also received many favors from kind relatives and friends.

The Alumni dinner at the commencement at Bridgton academy on the 15th inst. is to be furnished by Lakeside Grange. The Ladies' Circle of the Congregational church at North Bridgton has furnished this dinner for several years, but it does not desire to do so this year, and offered the job to the Grange. As that organization is at present looking after all the money that it can get, to use in paying for their new hall, they voted at the last meeting to accept the offer.

Four days of cloudy and rainy weather gave us only 1.37 inches of rainfall, which was not the "soaking" rain that is at present being poured down. The top of the ground was wet down a few inches, but the wells were affected but very little, and the water in the streams and ponds was raised only a few inches. Water is still so extremely low that it is almost impossible to get water from the wells. The water in the streams will not be able to run over the Sebago Lake route, the rainy spell was followed by extreme cold for the season, the mercury dropping to 30 and below in many places, with quite a frost, and ice formed in some localities.

There was a good attendance at the last meeting of Lakeside Grange, on Saturday evening. After transacting such business as was necessary the first and second degrees were conferred in due form upon one candidate. Following this was the literary program. The Lecturer had provided quite a lengthy entertainment, but the unexpected working of the degrees took so much time that quite a portion of it had to be omitted, or postponed. Sister Ethel M. Thomas gave a most excellent recitation, after which the following question was taken up for discussion: "How can our Common Schools be made of more practical benefit to the average pupils?" The W. Lecturer, Alphonso Montfort, opened the debate with a carefully prepared paper, in which he advocated the elimination of all "fancy" studies, close application to those studies which will be sure to be of use in any business into which the pupil may enter, more careful preparation of class duties, the part of the teachers, and more efficient superintendence than we now have. The question was ably discussed by W. Sec. J. A. Chabourne, Bro. I. P. McCormick, Principal of Bridgton Academy, and Bro. Geo. H. Croone. Many good points were brought out. At a meeting in the near future the brothers are to furnish the whole entertainment and literary program, and at another the young people are to do the same.
